Seminar Brief:

A TEACHER FOR ALL SEASONS is an educator who is motivated by the mission to teach and reach students and who stays motivated even during the tough times when feeling stressed, exhausted and frustrated with the “system”...

In this seminar, you (the participant) will learn:

- How to succeed in the school you have, not the school you wish you had, by learning how to thrive under less than ideal teaching and work conditions;
- Reasons why teachers quit and how to prevent these career killers from shortening your teaching career;
- And gain a new perspective on what teaching really is all about;
- To discover the real impact of what happens when you “miss” the students most teachers overlook and ignore and why you’ll never label a student again;
- Teaching attitudes that dictate how you teach everyday and how to choose the right one;
- About the types of teachers and how each will determine your level of success or stress in the classroom;
- To understand the eye-opening truth why most teachers are average to awful, thus learning how to achieve your full teaching potential;
- Ways to effectively evaluate your effectiveness as a teacher;
- Things you must do as a teacher to serve your students better and avoid teacher burnout.
