

A DIRECT-TO-SCHOOL SEMINAR FOR ALL K-10 TEACHERS

“For all our own learning and study, we teachers are constantly challenged to find the means to make active in the minds of our students the information and ideas that we profess. This is not a merely matter of finding the “right” words or the “correct” organizational pattern, for the right words one quarter may be wrong the next and the clearest organization in one class can be opaque in another. Rather it requires the use of theatrical tools needed to help us direct the meanings and understandings that learners take from our classes...”

TEACHER EFFECTIVENESS SERIES 1:

WHAT TEACHERS NEED TO KNOW ABOUT CLASSROOM PRESENTATION SKILLS

SYNOPSIS

Teacher Effectiveness is not concerned with any particular teaching method. Rather, it is concerned in a more general sense with the way in which a teacher operates in the classroom – the decisions they make, the actions they take, their interactions with students, their presentation skills, and the way they manage the group. This seminar will focus on enhancing the presentation skills of teachers in order to help them maintain the enthusiasm and attention of students. Tried and proven theatrical tips and strategies adapted to the classroom setting will be discussed to and learned by the participants.
